

January 2009

www.loblawgrad.ca/

If you're a recent or soon to be university or college graduate who's ready for a new challenge, grad@Loblaw is for you.

Our 18-month, paid program lets you see our company from different angles. Once you've been hired, you'll rotate through various roles and get an up close and personal feel for our business. Your final placement may be in store management throughout Canada, or in a role in marketing, merchandising, supply chain, IT, human resources or finance in our store support or regional offices.

How does it work?

First, you spend up to six months working in the core of our business – our stores. From there, you spend three months in our central merchandising operation, followed by nine months in your destination department. With each rotation, you get to roll up your sleeves and get involved right from the start.

Who can join?

You can be part of this unique experience if:

- You're set to graduate soon or have graduated from an accredited university or college in or outside Canada within the past 24 months.
- You're a solid student who has a lot of other interests.
- You've worked with the public in a job or a volunteer position.
- You love food and are excited to work for a retail company.
- You've got a drive to win and a passion to make things happen.
- You're flexible about work location and can do one or more of your rotations in our store support office in Brampton, Ontario.

Sign up now

We're hiring 100 grads to start in April 2009 and another 100 grads to start in October 2009.